Sir/Madam:

Applicant notes the Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance, and Applicant treats these statements of allowable subject matter as providing some reasons why the claimed subject matter is allowable, but not necessarily all of the reasons the material is allowable. Further, Applicant points out that each allowed claim is not necessarily limited to the literal language contained in the Examiner's statement. Finally, Applicant states that each allowed claim is allowable based on the entire record, and not solely based on the Examiner's Statement.

For example, the Examiner's Statement discusses a "user feedback unit". However, claim 41 does not recite a user feedback unit.

Respectfully submitted,

Bruce T. Neel
